ANNUAL OATMEAL FESTIVAL LABOR DAY WEEKEND FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2 & 3, 2016 in OATMEAL AND BERTRAM TEXAS

The Texas Hill Country Braces for "OatRageous" 39th Annual Event

The quaint Texas Hill Country town of Bertram is preparing itself for this year's annual Labor Day event, their 39th Annual Oatmeal Festival. The festival begins Friday evening at 5:03 pm in the nearby town of Oatmeal, and continues all day Saturday in Bertram, Texas.

continued efforts of a dedicated group of volunteers that put it all together. They make up a small not-for-profit that works hard year 'round, just to make this two-day festival the best that it can possibly be. To that end, they are always looking for help. Whether it's to volunteer, participate in events, become a vendor, or a sponsor, or to donate. Contact the Oatmeal Festival Bowl of Directors to learn how to be a part of each event.

There will be many events to enjoy on Saturday starting at 8:03 am; ending with the Zane Williams Band, and dancing under the stars at 8:03 pm. COME JOIN US ... ENJOY

This Labor Day Weekend consider a day trip to the Texas Hill Country; find out what makes this Annual Oatmeal Festival special. Spend Saturday in the city of Bertram, Texas.

Some of this year's activities will include a beauty pageant, guided trail-ride, a 3.3-mile fun run, baking competition, pet parade, an Oatmeal Grand Parade, live music during the day, children's games and water activities, and street dancing to top off the evening. For an expanded schedule of events, and vendor registration check out their website.

Several of Bertram's downtown streets will be closed to accommodate runners, skits, parades, music, vendors, games, and other fun and unusual activities. These make up the annual Oatmeal Festival. All of this, in addition to the growing number of out of town guests that the event attracts, is expected to fill downtown Bertram. Local residents support this event, because this two-day party has a truly noble purpose. Festival funds raised go to support scholarship opportunities for high school students, and to support other activities that help strengthen the community. The amount raised has increased since the inception of this annual program. Thank you to all participants for your support.

Many local businesses actively support the mission of this festival through sponsorship and participation. They consider it a great opportunity to reinvest in their community. Additionally, the air-conditioned Historic Globe Theater has a full day of event planned.

Organizers insist that this annual festival would not be possible without this community involvement, generous sponsors and committed volunteers, who welcome such support.

This long-lasting local tradition could not have carried on successfully for without the
