Create a story using the 5 W's

One day my mom told me a story about when she first got into a flood. She said it happened in Los Angeles on a Monday afternoon on September 27, 1974. My mom was only eight years old when it happened. People were buying lunch from the lunch line. The principal told everyone to go to higher ground. It started to rain hard. They saw lightning and heard thunder. In ten minutes the school was flooded. She said the water was about 55 feet deep. After a while it stopped raining. They had to wait 5 hours until someone could help. My mom said it was really scary.

One day I woke up and it started as a normal day. I went to school, had PE and did some work. But when I went home, it was not normal. A monster was in my house! I ran out of my house and shut the door. I think I set a world record for the most scared person on earth. But I had no time to panic. I toughened up and ran for my life! When I was done running for my life, I was so tired. Before I could catch my breath a monster jumped in front of me. I took out a monster sucking machine and put him in his place!

One day when we were at school learning 4 X 8, Bob gave Mrs. Foley a drink. It was liquid to turn her into a monster! Then, all of a sudden Bob turned into a marten! Bob was actually a marten and he disappeared into thin air! Then Mrs. Foley ate a few of our classmates. We only had 16 of us left! I looked up on Google, "how to make your teacher normal again?" It said you needed two grocery bags, a piece of gum, 3 shoes, 6 pencils, milk, water and ice. It also said you needed to splash it in her face to get her to come back to normal. So I went to Wal Mart and got everything. When I got home, I got the huge bowl we used for Halloween. I put everything in there. First I went to school and there was a big hole in the wall. Then I heard a scream from down the hall and I went that way. I found her on top of the huge ball that you go in. I went all the way to the top and splashed it on her. Then she went back to normal. She asked me, "What happened?" I just didn't want to say!

One day on summer vacation my mom said she would buy me some chicks to play with. That evening my uncle came over with four chicks. My big brother, my little sister and I were so happy to see the chicks. Days passed and the chicks ate and ate. I noticed they were getting big and fat. The chicks and I started playing chase all around. Then my mom said we were going to get more chickens and a rooster. Then this big and tall guy brought us the chickens and rooster. There were two chicks and one rooster. My grandma came from Mexico and told us they were chickens. They laid an egg.

One day I was watching TV and my dad came running inside. He came in and said he wanted to go to Galveston. I went into my room and got packed and ready to go. My mom did the same! An hour later, we were all getting in the truck. Five hours later we were there! It was awesome and I wanted to go to the beach. We had to get checked into our hotel first. It didn't take long and we were at the beach. I only got to stay an hour and then it was dark. When we got back to the hotel we ate dinner and went to bed. The next day we woke up, ate breakfast and went to my favorite gift shop- Dolphin World! I like it because you have a lot of good stuff to pick from. When we got out of there it was 2 o'clock. So we had to go back to the hotel and pack up. We packed up, went home and unpacked. That was the best vacation ever!
